VI. New Business

A. Mildred Pearson, Office of Faculty Development. Pearson brought to the senators' attention a new infomercial on the Faculty Development website.

http://www.eiu.edu/~facdev/2006initiatives_Flash.php Pearson described several series of forthcoming events; the schedule may be found at <http://www.eiu.edu/~facdev/calendar.php>). Pearson provided attendance figures for recent events: New faculty orientation, 51 (out of 60 new faculty); New faculty reception, 101; New faculty seminar, 13; Faculty Appreciation Day, 500 (estimate), Wholesome Professor workshop, 29; Research and Sponsored Programs assembled, 8. Pearson discussed at length the 8 November workshop being delivered by Susan Robinson <http://www.eiu.edu/~facdev/index.php>. Pearson then distributed handouts on the Mary Tyler Huber Carnegie Foundation. Senator Curry asked Pearson to explain the role of the Faculty Development Advisory Committee. Pearson replied that it is to advise on future programs and assess completed ones. Curry followed up by asking about the procedures for approving programs and speakers. Pearson explained that a list of programs is given to the advisory committee which then ranks them in priority order for the following year's calendar. Curry then asked how Faculty Development attendance is assessed. Pearson responded that it depends on the topic. Her office considers both attendance numbers and evaluations completed by participants. She added that she is amazed with what has been done in such a short period of time and that faculty come to events because they truly want the information provided.

- B. Sue Harvey, Office of the Registrar. Curry asked Harvey to clarify why recent policy changes that have a significant affect on faculty have gone to CGS and CAA without a broader discussion by the faculty at large. Curry then asked whether these changes are due to the implementation of Banner. Harvey explained that Eastern is still in the process of bringing online several parts of Banner pertaining to student records, but everything should be in place by 17 December. Curry asked Harvey if there were any changes in policies regarding students' grades that were being driven by Banner. Harvey said that there have been some accommodations. Her office had suggested that, in the case of a student repeating a course multiple times due to grades of D or lower, only the highest grade be calculated into the student's GPA because it was the closest to what was already being done. Curry expressed concern that such a policy makes it possible for students to receive a D or lower in a course multiple times without it negatively impacting their GPA, which seems unfair to students who pass a course the first time they take it. CAA chair Christie Roszkowski said that when the issue was discussed at CAA the majority of faculty were in favor because it proved itself to be the best choice for students. Curry stated that a lack of communication had prevented a broader discussion of the issue among the faculty at large. Roszkowski responded that CAA was not aware that there was a broader interest because input had not been provided to them. Senator Fischer then sought clarification from Harvey regarding how the grades would appear on students' transcripts. Harvey answered that all three grades will appear on the transcript but only the highest will be calculated in the GPA. Curry then asked Harvey what she sees in the time ahead as the Banner implementation continues. Harvey said that getting academic history implemented was very important so that grades can be processed. She also explained that her office will provide answers to frequently-asked questions faculty may have about posting grades using Banner, but it is difficult to know what questions faculty will have until they actually begin using the system. Faculty are asked to contact her (gsharvey@eiu.edu or 581-3511) as questions arise. Curry then thanked Harvey for coming to speak to Faculty Senate.
