

Snake Ecology 2004

6 January 2004

Dear Colleague,

On behalf of Christopher Phillips of the University of Illinois and myself, I would like to thank you for accepting our invitation to participate the next Snake Ecology Group conference, convening at the Touch of Nature Environmental Center in Illinois on 23-25 May 2004. We expect to have over 150 scientists in attendance for this meeting, and that much scientific information will be exchanged during the workshop sessions and other presentations.

We are eager to learn about your latest research endeavours, and look forward to welcoming you to southern Illinois. Please feel free to contact me should you have any questions concerning additional plans for Snake Ecology 2004.

Respectfully,
