4. Rationale
   a. American popular culture is an omni-present, quotidian presence. While often dismissed as mere entertainment or crass advertising, these messages do exert an influence on our social, political, and cultural awareness. This course is intended to equip students with the theory and skills necessary to make them savvy interpreters of these messages.
   b. The amount of reading, assessment measures, and nature of the material covered warrant a 3000 level. There are no prerequisites.
   c. Similarity to existing courses:
      1. There are no courses similar to this one.
      2. No courses will be deleted.
   d. Impact on the program:
      1. This course is part of a new option in Rhetoric and Public Advocacy. It will serve as an elective for this option as well as other options in the major.
      2. N/A.

5. Implementation
   a. Angela Aguayo, Suzanne Enck-Wanzer, Olaf Hoerschelman, Shane Miller & Mehdi Semati will all be able to teach this course.
   b. There will be no additional costs for students.
   c. Texts

6. Community College Transfer
   A community college course will not be accepted as a substitute for this course.
