

LT. KING HELPING TRAIN YOUNG PILOTS

June 15, 1944

WILL GO TO MYRTLE BEACH AIR
FIELD AFTER FURLOUGH

Lieutenant Daniel Wayne King, Army Air Force Pilot has been spending the past few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ona M. King near Falmouth

Lt. King will return to the Myrtle Beach, S. C, Army Air Field when his furlough is up and there will continue instructing pilots in combat work.

He returned to the States a few months ago from the North African Theatre of war, after having completed his required number of missions over enemy territory, and has since been assigned to the job of helping other pilots who are being prepared for duty on the air front.
