

JAPS CATER TO NEWTON PARATROOPER

Nov. 15, 1945

He is a veteran paratrooper, of the 11th Airborne Division, a veteran of the Philippines and other campaign, and is now stationed in Kamita, a small town north of Tokyo. He went to Japan with the occupation forces shortly after the Nips surrendered.

Pfc. DeVore entered the service in June 1943 and went overseas a year later. He saw service in New Guinea, Leyte, Luzon, Manilla and Okinawa before being transferred to Japan.
