II. Communications
1. College of Sciences Curriculum Committee Minutes of Friday, September 9, 2005
2. Lumpkin College of Business and Applied Sciences Curriculum Committee Minutes of Monday, September 19, 2005

III. Approved Executive Actions
1. Jeffrey Lynch, Associate Dean, CAH, has requested the following be approved by executive action to be effective Fall 2005. The Executive Action request was approved unanimously at the CAHCC meeting of September 14, 2005.
   a. Cross-list History 4845 “Women and Gender in Modern Europe” with Women’s Studies.
      Rationale: The original course proposal, as approved by CAA, stated that the course would be cross-listed.
      HIS 3900 “Women in American History,” which deals with the topic in another region, is already cross-listed. The course clearly deals with women’s history, an important aspect of women’s studies. The course is a combined undergraduate/graduate course (thus the need for CGS approval) that should be open to undergraduates and graduate students in other programs with an interest in women’s studies.
   b. Please approve the following Executive Action request from the Art Department:
      ART 4802 Current catalog description. 4802 ART. Advanced Weaving III. (0-6-3) F, S. Continuation of ART 4801 with further mastery of the subject matter and techniques. Prerequisites: ART 4801.
      Proposed changes (addition underlined & bold) 4802 ART. Advanced Weaving III. (0-6-3) F, S. Continuation of ART 4801 with further mastery of the subject matter and techniques. Prerequisites: ART 4801.
      May be taken twice for credit.
      Rationale: Repeating of the final course in the studio sequence allows student to continue development of creative ideas and mastery of processes/media.
2. Mary Anne Hanner, Dean, COS, has requested the following be approved by executive action at the Council on Graduate Studies October 4, 2005 meeting. The College of Sciences Curriculum Committee approved the actions at the September 9, 2005 meeting.

   a. BIO 5225 – Change course description to read as follows: “The course provides a comprehensive survey of the theory and methodology of biological systematics as currently practiced. The course emphasizes practical experience in the acquisition and analysis of systematic data, understanding of biological patterns in the context of phylogenetic hypotheses, and hands-on experience using several computer programs in systematic studies. Prerequisite: 16 semester hours of biological science.” Effective: Fall 2006

   Rationale: The current course description was written when the course was listed as ZOO 5225 before the merger of the departments of Botany and Zoology seven years ago. The course description was not revised at that time because the department did not have a faculty member on staff who could teach the course. Dr. Zhiwei Liu, who was hired to teach this course in Fall Semester 2005, has requested that the course description be revised and expanded. The content of the course has not been changed.

   b. Phase I and II Graduate Program in CDS – Withdraw previously approved proposal in conjunction with these programs. Effective: Immediately (Fall 2005)

   Rationale: In response to information provided by Jone Zieren, Office of Financial Aid and Dr. Augustine, Graduate Dean, it has become apparent that the purpose prompting the program revision cannot be met under current guidelines for financial aid. The intent was to allow international and non-traditional students a means of qualifying for financial aid while making up courses in the undergraduate curriculum, which are prerequisite for acceptance into the graduate program. Current restrictions on financial aid only allow 36 hours of preliminary course work with non-degree status, rather than the two years that would be required.
